

Try Pie Teen Application

Try Pie serves as a teen development and employment program for high school girls in the Cedar Valley. Each week, Try Pie teens work in the kitchen, making pie to practice basic job skills and build their experience and marketability for future employment. During weekly classroom time, local leaders present curriculum on budgeting, resume writing, interview etiquette, and spiritual and community development. Our hope is that you would develop critical job experience for your future, earn an income as you move toward financial independence, grow friendships within diverse community, and grow to know your value as a child of God.

Please take note that Try Pie typically hires in September and January as positions are available. If you're submitting an application during a time we're not hiring, we'll keep your application on file until our next hiring period.

No teen is required to claim belief in Jesus or practice Christian faith prior to or while being employed by Try Pie. Teens should recognize that Try Pie is a faith based program and will center some conversations, discussions and teaching around topics related to faith. Though teens are asked to remain present during these occurrences, each individual is able to decide how much they verbally participate.
